

Evepilot using multiple accounts (only 1 active)?

Posted by sambuka - 2011/03/04 06:42

Hi guys

Just bought 1 copy of Eve pilot lifetime, just wanted to check does this work on only 1 character/account I have to tell Macrolabs when registering it? or only 1 account at any one time which I can move around where needed?

I was planning on testing it on one of my many accounts for the hauler feature, then in a week switch the eve pilot software to use it on a totally different account after I disabled the first. Once my 2nd account can fly the freighter.

I'm sure it only lets me use one copy of it at a time which is fine, but does it let me have the flexibility to move its use around my multiple characters & accounts as needed for various uses? (still using only 1 active copy of it at any one time).

Thanks for the help.

Sam

Use license distribution page for that as described in manual.

Thanks, I just got through the registration process. All works great shouldn't need to rotate more than 24 hours so that's perfect.
